CALLED TO ORDER.

Meeting of the Republican National Convention.

TEMPORARY ORGANIZATION EFFECTED.

J. Sloan Fassett, a Blaine Man, Made Chairman—Ex-Speaker Tom Reed Called to the Front—The Temporary Officers.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 7.—The republican national convention was called to order at 12:30 p.m. by Chairman Clarkson of the republican national committee, and the session was opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Rush, chancellor of the university of St. Dakota, the whole convention standing. The venerable divine prayed for harmony, and that the platform to be adopted and other issues raised might be subordinate to the will of God.

The call was then read, and Chairman Clarkson, by instruction of the committee, named Hon. J. Sloan Fassett, of New York, as temporary chairman of the convention.

Upon reading by the platform Mr. Fassett received the customary welcome of applause, the New York delegate rising and waving his hat in a lengthy address.

When Mr. Fassett had completed his address he was applauded loudly, but then went up cries of "Reed! Reed!" and immediately the convention was on its feet shouting and waving hats. Mr. Fassett held up the gavel in his right hand for a momentary silence.

"Hon. Thomas H. Reed is always in order," he said. The cheering continued until Mr. Reed rising, his straw hat in his hand, picked his way to the aisle and walked down to the chairman's platform. It was with a gratified smile that he took the hand of Mr. Fassett.

Then he faced the audience and amid profound silence began to speak. Mr. Reed said he wanted to add in the presence of this vast audience his hearty expression of faith in the future of the republican party. "It is just as the independence of history. Its deeds are history itself. We are prevented from 'pointing with pride' to the achievements of our party because of our tenderness for the democracy. We are rejoicing that our past shows that from our birth until now our record has been such that it is a guarantee of the magnificent future we are sure to have. While we have done great things, we have no right to rest upon them. We have given to this country a wonderful period of prosperity. Wealth has been poured into the laps of our people by the great system which we believe in, but I say to you today that there is a nobler future before the republican party, even than having given prosperity to the country, and that is to give to every citizen of the country liberty of thought and action. Wealth and prosperity are noble, but human liberty is magnificent."

The speech was received with continued and growing enthusiasm. Bowing his thanks as he concluded, Mr. Reed left the platform and returned to his seat. Then there were cries for McKinley, and amid great enthusiasm he bowed his thanks. The cries of "McKinley" mingled with cries of "Harrison."

gals continued until the chairman said, as he brought down his gavel: "No more in the republican convention." A minute later he brought down his gavel, and the convention would proceed with the regular order of organizing this temporary gathering.

Then Mr. Clarkson presented the following list of temporary officers: Secretaries—Chas. W. Johnson, Minneapolis; N. M. Arthur Holt, Ohio; Carson Lake, New York; George Lee, Colorado; J. O. Browne, Pennsylvania; W. P. Brownlee, Tennessee; Arthur S. Clark, Massachusetts.

Assistant Secretaries—Theodore F. Simmons, California; Philip Schurzmann, Delaware; Arthur C. Brown, Detroit; Columbus, Ohio; Hopkins, Ohio; Charles S. Morris, Kentucky; A. W. Morrison, Maryland; J. W. Dinwiddie, Alabama; J. B. Walker, Montana; T. V. McAllister, Mississippi; Otto Cranau, New York.

Reading Clerks—C. P. Harvey, Minnesota; H. H. Stone, Michigan; J. S. Kenyon, New York; H. S. Oliver, North Dakota; Chas. Curtis, Kansas; Chas. F. Feltz, Illinois; J. H. Miles, Wisconsin; W. H. Kiley, Kentucky.

Stenographers—T. C. Rose, New York; J. E. Burke, Pennsylvania.

The report was adopted, and Mr. Sewall, of New York, was recognized to offer a resolution for the appointment of one member of each committee on permanent organization, rules, order of business, credentials and resolutions from each delegation. Pending the call the chairman said that there was no objection the convention would be governed for the time by the rules of the last republican national convention. No objection was offered. The clerk read Mr. Sewall's resolution for information; it was quickly adopted, and the

DEFIED THE STORM.

A Great Mass Meeting at Convention Hall Last Night.

TWELVE THOUSAND PEOPLE PRESENT.

Coming Together Through a Driving Rain to Hear Hon. John M. Thurston Talk of Republican Principles and Achievements.

The Mass Meeting Last Night. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 8.—Dripping sides and sloppy streets did not keep the old veterans and republican visitors to Minneapolis from crowding the great convention hall to overflowing at the mass meeting last night. Possibly curiously about the hall and its decorations as much as the American love for a bright light, there was a steady downpour. But every car running in the direction of the convention building was packed and the sidewalks were filled with jostling crowds. A little side street led to the exposition building. Passage was possible only along the narrow sidewalks and they were jammed with a good-natured crowd, moving along at the rate of about an inch a minute in the direction of the entrances of the convention building.

Although the restricted approaches made the crowd slow in assembling, the developments at the chief entrances had all they could do pushing the ticket holders to their sections.

The arrangements of the hall were exactly what they were yesterday for the convention. The decorations were still fresh and bright and even the big bunch of lilacs near the speakers' platform was as pretty as it looked when Chairman Fassett's gavel fell at 12:30 yesterday afternoon.

The seats, which had been reserved for delegates to the convention were set apart last night for the members of the Union Veterans' league. The local changes were made. The following tickets for these seats were issued: tickets for the delegates and the convention officers had charge of the aisles and seated the great audience with remarkable quickness.

In the front row of the delegates' seats was Blaine's Parant, of Grand Forks, better known as "Old Shanty." Then, Sherman's cook during the war. There were other historic figures seated among the delegates, but the rank and file were chiefly represented. In one section sat the uniformed members of the Minneapolis Flanahan club, which has acted as a local escort of visiting delegations. There were some ladies seated among the veterans and many more scattered about through the galleries.

The audience had not all assembled at 7 o'clock when Hon. John M. Thurston, of Nebraska, appeared and took a seat on the platform. Efforts had been made to excite partisan feeling by cries of "Blaine" and "Harrison," and without effect. Mr. Thurston took his seat some one started "Three cheers for Harrison," and they were given heartily. There was an attempt to create a counter demonstration for Blaine, but it failed. But as I said then, the situation demands the nomination of a third candidate. The leaders are receiving letters and telegrams in great number representing that the best interests of the party demand a new man.

"Oh," said Mr. Halstead, "that was two days ago, and you know that changes have taken place in the party since then. Conventions are inflexible in character and swiftness. Since Sunday the Blaine men have had a little the advantage, and I believe are better situated than their opponents. But as I said then, the situation demands the nomination of a third candidate. The leaders are receiving letters and telegrams in great number representing that the best interests of the party demand a new man."

"Where do these letters come from, Mr. Halstead?"

"They come from all over the country," he answered.

Mr. Halstead was not advised of the existence of the Blaine boom, and asked if it could poll as many as thirty or forty votes. The reporter would give him any information on this subject, and Mr. Halstead said it would be well if there could be a sufficient number of votes for some other candidate to hold the convention in check for a while. An Iowa delegate was asked if there was any support for the Blaine boom in his delegation. He said he knew of no such boom; he was as near to Senator Allison as any one outside the state.

Ex-Senator Spooner, of Wisconsin, said that it would never do to take a candidate from a prohibition state unless the party was willing and able to get along without the votes of that state, in which there was a large foreign and liberal element.

Since morning the temper of the Harrisonites, with respect of an early vote, has undergone a change. This afternoon and tonight they were of the opinion that an early demonstration of their strength was desirable, and they expressed the desire to meet the issue as speedily as possible. The claim made by Mr. Michener last night that the Harrison vote would show a total of 513 was refuted to-day with great confidence by the managers at the headquarters.

Gen. Husted No Better. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 8.—Gen. Husted, of New York, was last night reported as no better. His condition was precarious, and it is attracting much attention. Mrs. Gen. Husted and her son are expected to arrive here this morning.

A Republican Victory. PORTLAND, Ore., June 8.—Oregon has gone republican with the possible exception of attorney general. The republican have large majorities. This being the first trial of the Australian ballot system in this state, the count is tedious and slow.

On account of local issues, Multnomah county, which includes Portland, will probably elect a mixed ticket, but the straight republicans claim a majority of the offices.

Marriage of Miss Harriet S. Fullman. CHICAGO, June 8.—Miss Harriet S. Fullman, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Fullman, was married last evening to Francis J. Carolan, of San Francisco. Owing to the recent death of Mrs. Fullman the wedding was a quiet affair, none but the immediate friends of the two families being present. San Francisco is to be the future home of the young couple.

OVATIONS TO EX-SPEAKER T. B. REED.

An Evening Made Dismal by a Soaking Rain. Visiting the Theater and Seeking Rest—A Festive Theme of Conversation.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 8.—Ex-Speaker T. B. Reed has been in receipt of many ovations since his arrival Monday. He has received all honors cordially at the Maine headquarters, but had positively refused to discuss politics to any great extent. "I am looking for some painter myself. I do not know any more about the object of Blaine's resignation, than

Last evening was made dismal by a soaking rain which fell steadily after 7 o'clock. Many of the visitors went to the theaters and many more retired early, but they were left to the hotels, particularly the West house, which is the central headquarters of the convention.

The crowd, that flooded the passages in every public place yesterday, was unusually quiet in view of all the noise and enthusiasm of the past three days. There were just as many people, and many of them were the same people who had herebefore been filling the air with cheers for their favorite candidate, but the hands, the waving plumes and banners, the shouting enthusiasm, had disappeared as if by magic.

FIFTY-SECOND CONGRESS.
(First Session.)
SENATE.
WASHINGTON, June 8.—The senate adjourned all previous records this morning in passing the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill in thirty minutes. The following changes were made: Secretary of War, from $2,000 to $2,500; salaries of consular agents at London, Paris, Havana and Rio de Janeiro, from $2,000 to $2,500, and salaries of American consuls from $2,000 to $2,500. The following amendments by the house were restored: Titles, Venues, Honors and Emblems. For a continental railway survey $50,000, and $20,000 to relocate the existing frontier line between the United States and Mexico, west of the Rio Grande river, were incorporated.

At 1:25 p.m. the senate adjourned until to-morrow.

HOUSE.
The house had a brief session to-day. An urgent deficiency bill appropriating $2,500,000 for pensions and $100,000 for contingent expenses of the house was passed. Bills were also passed establishing weather bureau stations at Middle and Chandler Bay Islands, Lake Huron, and ending lands to the city of New Bedford, Mass., for a public park. The bill for the relief of the bankrupts of the United States and Mexico, west of the Rio Grande river, was incorporated.

At 1:25 p.m. the senate adjourned until to-morrow.

A Victory for the Railroaders. LEAVENWORTH, Kan., June 8.—In the United States circuit court yesterday afternoon Judge Riner presiding, the somewhat noted case of The United States vs. the Trans-Missouri Freight Association was called for trial. This is the case brought by direction of the attorney general against the railroad companies to dissolve the association, it being alleged that it was in violation of the antitrust law.

District Attorney Ady had filed a defense, claiming that the answer submitted by George R. Peck, general solicitor of the Santa Fe, was no defense.

When the case was called the defense announced themselves ready for trial, but District Attorney Ady refused to make an argument on the matter, and Judge Riner dismissed the case, deciding that the defense set up by the railroad companies fully sustained the legality of their acts.

An Absconding Defaulter. OAKLAND, Cal., June 8.—R. C. Rogers, secretary of the Oakland & Berkeley electric road, is supposed to have absconded with $10,000 of the company's money. He made a settlement with the company Monday, turning in his money, but immediately drew $10,000 from the First national bank to pay current bills. At 5 o'clock Monday evening he was at home, but since then he has not been seen. His wife could give no information as to his whereabouts.

A Blacksmith Saves the Life of a Little Girl.—Missie Carney was perhaps as near leaving this world as any one can be, to recover. She was sick with cholera morbus; completely exhausted and unconscious. The physicians had decided the case was hopeless and beyond their control. Chas. J. Newcomb, a blacksmith, walked four miles through the darkness and storm to get a remedy he had 1 year used, and which he firmly believed would cure her. That medicine was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He obtained a part of a bottle, with which he hastily returned, and gave the little sufferer a half teaspoonful, which relieved her and consciousness gradually returned. The medicine was given in broken doses, and in a short time she was well. He is positive that it saved her life, and has others in that vicinity. For sale by W. W. F. Neider, druggist, d&w

M'KINLEY CHAIRMAN.

NEWS FROM THE NATIONAL REPUBLICAN CONVENTION.

NO BALLOT UNTIL FRIDAY.

Delay Caused by the Reports of Various Committees.

PRESS BULLETINS.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 8.—The National Republican Convention met at 11:30 a. m. The delegates came in slowly. At 11 o'clock it was said that the committee on credentials would not report before to-morrow night and that a ballot cannot be had before Friday.

Up to 11 a. m. the committee on credentials had not passed on a single contested seat.

Hon. William McKinley, of Ohio, was elected permanent chairman when the convention was called to order, amid great applause. The speech of McKinley excited wild enthusiasm.

In his speech McKinley said the convention would present a platform and candidate that would meet with the approval of the country, and predicted success in November.

He spoke in great praise of protective tariff and its results. He said the party's duty was to see that there was a free and honest ballot in all parts of the country. He was loudly cheered. The rules adopted provide that credentials and platform committee must report before balloting begins.

The committee on credentials has not passed on a single contested delegation. (60 delegates are involved.)

The chairman of the committee on platform says the committee will not be ready to report until late to-night.

At 12:50 p. m. the convention adjourned until 11 a. m. Thursday, June 9th.

THE MAN FROM MAINE.

Passing Through New York for Boston—Ed Rogers to be interviewed.

New York, June 8.—Ed Rogers, Secretary of the Maine State Fair, accompanied by his wife and James G. Blaine, Jr., and Miss Dodge (Miss Hamilton), arrived in Jersey City at 9:10 o'clock last night, from Washington. Mr. Blaine when seen by a reporter refused to be interviewed and when the question was put to him: "Will you grant a few minutes to a number of the press?" replied: "No, sir, I will not."

"Have you, Mr. Secretary," the reporter asked, "heard anything from the Minneapolis convention, and will you say anything relative to the election of Mr. Roosevelt as temporary chairman of the convention?"

"No," replied Mr. Blaine. "I refuse to be interviewed, and you can enlarge as much as you please upon it."

"This was all that he would say. The ex-secretary's face was flushed and the flesh under both eyes was sunken. He was in the best of health. The Maine party did not leave their car as they were bound for Boston. At 9:10 a. m. the car left the depot and was run onto the ferry boat Maryland to be taken to North Haven, where it will be attached to the train for Boston that arrives there at 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

During the time the ex-secretary's car remained at the Pennsylvania depot a crowd of reporters hovered about it. Mr. Blaine sat by the side of his husband, at times quietly talking with him, and at intervals sipping from a glass that appeared to contain ginger ale. James G. Blaine, Jr., was not visible.

Will Stand by President Harrison.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 8.—The National Republican Convention, at the instigation of the Maine delegation, has adopted a resolution that it will not be necessary to ascertain the number of delegates to the Maine delegation, and the extent of losses in each locality. Decatur churches have made up packages of clothing to forward to the sufferers.

A Denial.

It has been stated that the painters at work on the Elwood property on West William street had been called off yesterday by the Federation and that they had not worked. This is a mistake. The painters are still at work on the Elwood house and will probably finish the job. W. O. McNabb is the contractor in charge of the improvement. However, it is said that the Federation object to the painters working on the job.

Lycium Theatre Co.

Riverside Park theatre was crowded to its utmost last night to witness the first appearance of the above company here this season. "Kathleen Mavourneen" was given in an excellent manner and was highly enjoyed by all present. The company is a good one in every respect and a season of first-class comedies and dramas excellently presented may be looked for. The same bill will be given to-night.

Death at 83.

Mrs. Eliza Walker aged 83 years, died at 7 o'clock, Tuesday evening June 7th, of a complication of diseases, growing out of an attack of the grippe, at the home of her son-in-law O. W. Bear. Deceased leaves three children: Charles, Edgington, Mary J. Walker and Mrs. O. W. Bear. The funeral took place this afternoon at Salem church. Burial in Salem cemetery.

Death of Mrs. Akers.

Mrs. Akers, the aged mother of Charles E. Akers, died this morning at 9 o'clock at her home on Central avenue, aged 84 years. Her death was the result of a complication of diseases.

No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral.

High School Graduates.
